

MOTION BY SUPERVISOR DON KNABE

October 30, 2007

As the largest employer in the greater Los Angeles area, the County of Los Angeles when appropriate provides opportunities for employees to take advantage of special services offered by local businesses. Credit Unions within the County offer a wide range of financial services to County employees and their family members. These services are not publicly celebrated and may not be widely known.

Credit Unions occupy a unique place in communities, extending financial programs to a broad cross-section of people, and creating competition among financial institutions, which benefits consumers.

A "Credit Union Day" within the County is an appropriate vehicle to celebrate the good work that Credit Unions perform in communities across the County. It also is an effective means to reacquaint employees with the numerous financial benefits available to them. Last year, more than 300 County employees attended "Credit Union Day" and took advantage of many of the special discount programs offered by the financial institutions.
